Col. F. L. Hitchcock Favors the Passage of Some New Laws.

MEASURES THAT HE ADVOCATES

Would Have the Laws So Framed That the Militia Could Be Organized on a National Basis for the Protection of the Country from Invasion or Any Sudden Emergency That Might Arise.

The discussion now filling the press of the country upon the availability of the National guard organizations of the several states for national military operations, offensive and defensive, prompts me to reproduce some sugges tions on this subject which I made in several articles published in sundry military magazines several years ago. of promoting some congressional legis-needed in cases of emergency, It was at a time when General Sherman, the commander-in-chief of the United States army, had recently inspecied the National guard of Penusylvania and had publicly stated how ized, disciplined and drilled body of troops, available for all purposes at a moment's call. I pointed out the fact seems to me, quite feasibly, in the folthat, although as troops they were all his glowing eulogy claimed, nevertheless as a matter of law they were not available for any purpose outside of the state of Pennsylvania.

What is true of our National guard in this respect I presume is true of the body according to population. Let National guards or organized militia of the entire force be say 200,000 men, di-

I am now speaking from a military standpoint, which regards such troops available only as are absolutely subject to military orders and discipline.

NO MORE PATRIOTIC MEN.

There is no more patriotic body of men in the world than are our own suburb National guard, and most undoubtedly every man would promptly say yes to any emergency call by the general government. But this probability does not fulfill the military conditions of availibility.

Such an emergency as would occur in case of a sudden invasion from our long and unprotected northern frontier, as was thought possible only a few years ago during the Behring sea im-broglio when the secretary of war telegraphed the adjutant general of Pennsylvania asking how quickly he could put the guard enroute for Buffalo or Cleveland) would involve a service of several months' duration at least, with all the probabilities of actual war with a powerful foreign nation. It is clear such a service is not contemplated by the National guard organization, and it is exceedingly unwise to remain in a position where, owing to emergency conditions, such a service might have to be asked from The guards' special work is to take care of our own state, more cannot and jury found a true bill. ought not to be asked of it, until it shall be-if ever-organized upon a national basis. The old maxim, time of peace prepare for war," is as applicable today as ever. The possible need of a large army for defensive purposes ought to be recognized at once.

THE CANADIAN MILITIA. The militia force of our Canadian neighbors is organized on a different basis from our guard. It is an auxiliary of their regular army and can be utilized at a moment's notice. This tite, sallow skin, when caused was exemplified some years ago during the Manitoba rebellion where it did by constipation; and constiprompt and effective service.

It is the pride of the United States that we are not a military nation in the sense of maintaining a large standing army. But that pride would be found a most expensive luxury in case we should find ourselves suddenly involved in a war with our northern neighbors.

They could put 100,000 men well organized and equipped across our frontier in forty-eight hours. Indeed they would probably occupy every important strategic point, including all our large cities from Oswego to Duluth or Portland within less time than forty-eight hours; the advantage of which cannot be over-estimated. It is highly probable such an event will never occur. Nevertheless experience proves that it is "the unexpected" that pappens. Now the point of my article is this question, how can we provide a national militia force which shall be available for emergencies, offensive and defensive, wherever required through-out the whole United States? For purposes of defense against mob and other disturbances within the state, i. e., arising out of the population— such as labor disturbances and the like, the present National guard organization ought to be amply sufficient. If not it can be supplemented by the regular army, and thus be made quite

OF INDUSTRIES

The Reading Coal and Iron company has, it is stated, practically agreed to accept 21 per cent. as its proportion of the total output of anthracite coal. This means a surrender of .63 of 1 per cent., as its ratio under the present allotment is 21.63 per cent. The work of readjusting the percentages has not, however, been completed, and there may be changes in the present arrangement; but the New York, Ontario and Western, which did not come in under the old allotment, must be provided for; its percentage will probably be 2 or 3 per cent., and it is to make up this allotment that the Reading has agreed to a reduction of its percentage. The allotments will, it is understood, se based on the output in June, which aggregated 5,112,000 tons, the largest month's output on record; the Reading's percentage for the month was 20; per cent., and was made in face of the fact that seventeen of the company's collieries were idle for half of the month, and six were idle for the whole month. It was the ability of the com-pany to mine 201 per cent. of the total under such circumstances that gave force to the argument that its regular allotment should not exceed 21 per cent.

The strength of Lackawanna is accompanied by the revival of the rumor of a distribution of the company's surplus. It is said that the distribution will be in the shape of a dividend of new stock, and that the holders will receive about 20 to 25 per cent, in new shares. Leading officials of the company emphatically deny the report, however, and say that no "melon" is to be divided among the stockholders.-Philadelphia Stockholder.

In the review of the fron trade, the Philadelphia Ledger says that the prospect of coal and coke resumptions has produced a somewhat easier feeling on Bessemer pig. There is no doubt the market is broadening and that the sarly fall will see a considerable in-crease in the demand. Consumption is still below normal. The total of pig iron for the year ended July ! was about 60 per cent, of the total of two years ago, or about 5,290,000 tons, against 9,009,000 tons in 1892

The opening up of the Bowman's Creek division of the Lebigh Valley has made possible the development of the coal lands of Sullivan and Wyoming county, and next spring that work is to begin in dead enruest. There was wastaik at one time that the Bowman's Creek branch would be leased to the Pennsylvania, rather Bowman's Creek branch would be leased to the Pennsylvania, rather than have it build a parallel line up into the mountain; but it is now believed that the Pennsy will make a joint traffic arrangement with the Lennigh to reach its coal lands, as soon as their development is finally decided upon.

The officials of the Lehigh Valley railroad have recently come into the possession of souvenirs which they prize very highly. Some time ago the weigh scales in the Packerton yards were reconstructed. The two lengths of steel rails, which for years held a position directly over the scales, were removed and carefully guarded. These rails have been cut up into small pieces, and after being highly polished, presented to the officers of the road. The sented to the officers of the road. interesting fact connected with the souvenirs is the fact that upon the rails were weighed 100,000,000 tops of

The president of the Eastern Minnesota road has created a stir among the elevator men of this section of the northwest by the announcement that ates on wheat in the elevators of the Great Northern road at Duluth and West Superior would be practically cut in two, much to the benefit of the farmers. The new rates will go into effect Aug. 10. It is estimated that the new rates will mean a reduction of over $2,000,000 in elevator earnings,

MINOR INDUSTRIAL NOTES:

history of the company.

Pennsylvania officials report a decided improvement in shipments from Chicago and from points along the line. This year's excursion business of the Western New York and Pennsylvania railroad is said to be the heaviest in the

A New York syndicate is said to be negotiating for some of the undeveloped coal lands owned by the Keading company tracts owned by parties in that locality.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the New York, Susquehanna and Western Railroad company, for the election of directors and for the transaction of such other business as may come before them, will be held September 6. A most surprising strike of free milling gold ore has been made in the Annio lode, fifteen miles east of Mosea, Col., by the Fullenwider Bros. Assays have been made with the astonishing result of $42,000 per ton. The gold is found in a honeycomb quartz, easily worked, almost crushing in the hand. Much of it is visible to the maked eye. The re-organization committee of the New York and New England Railroad company has usued a call for the third asavssment under the plan of re-organization as follows: $6.25 per share on the preferred stock and $5 on the common, payable Aug. Ni at the Manhattan Trust company, New York, and the Old Colony Trust company, The Lehigh Coal and Navigation com-pany, which is still working on repairs to dams and canal banks caused by the May reshet, sustained another annovance or Tuesday, when a portion of the Delaware canal bank just below Esston gave way and made a hole four feet deep and twelve feet long, thorough which water in the level poured into the Delaware. recognition of their bravery fidelity to duty during the recent strike, fifteen of the yardmasters on the wester; livision of the Chesapenke and Ohio rail road have been presented with suitably inscribed badges. Were the railroads gen erally to follow the example set by the Chesapeake and Ohio and reward their employes who remain loyal during similar omergencies it would, no doubt, tend to establish a stronger bond between the various managements and their men.
